Chaplain's Corner

Before coming to Warrnambool I had only ever paddled on the flat water of rivers. It has been a new experience being in the waves and four years later, I still find I am wrestling the waves rather than riding them. Occasionally I will have a swell run where I seem to find the rhythm of the waves and move more effortlessly from one to another.

There is a rhythm to life. There are stages and seasons that come and go. A wisdom teacher in the Bible said "There is a time for everything and a season for every activity under the heaven, a time to be born and a time to die ... a time to search and a time to give up ... a time to keep and a time to throw away ... a time to be silent and a time to speak ... God has made everything beautiful in its time."

Wisdom in life is recognising the stages and seasons of life as they come and embracing them, riding them, rather than wrestling them. Maybe you are at a stage where responsibilities are multiplying, or relationships are becoming more serious, or children are leaving home, or you are undergoing trials, or your fitness is declining as your age is increasing. Recognising the rhythm of life and moving with the waves rather than wrestling them or pretending they're not there is the way of wisdom.

See you on the beach,
